The Picagune adds: "The Chickasaws were seen beyond the barrier, as these soldiers advanced to take their position. En-tering the inclosure, they were welcomed with cheers. Their step as they moved along was quick, but as regular as ma-chinery in cadence. The blue uniforms trimmed with bright red produced a pleasing effect by contrast with the gray suits of thirty-two in rank, the other companies having drilled twenty-four men. The judges went through a critical inspection of the company. Having formed in single rank, the manual of arms with the numbers was execated. From first to last they were the objects of the closest scrutiny, and the immense erowd of spectators frequently expressed their admiration by outbursts of applause the Memphis boys gave an exhibition of fancy movements not down in the tactics, which were watched with keen interest." WILD ENTHUSIASM BY THE SPECTATORS The Democrat says: "The famous Chicka-saw Guards followed, and as they came on the ground the display they made was mag-nificent. Their uniform was an attractive nd showy one. Black coat, white cross belts, white red-tipped plumes, blue pant and red and gold trimmings. They had thirty-two men in line, exclusive of guides. Their performance was watched carefully and critically. The victory of the Crescent Rifles, of New Orleans, the Griffin Georgia rescents, in securing the second prize, over allant command, the Houston Light Inentry-was especially gratifying to our own local military organizations. It shows what zeal, perseverance, industry and esprit decorps can achieve. The members of the Chickasaws seemed to be proud of the suc-

The letter was addressed to "Jimmy Corte." —A dispatch was received by I. M. Hill, from Vaiden, Mississippi, yesterday, stating that at 4 o'clock, while the Chickasaw Guards' train was at Vaiden, I. M. Hill, gjr.

The letter was addressed to "Jimmy Caslman, Memphis jail, Memphis, Tennessee. From the above letter it is clear that Cash man's friends on the cutside belong to the same gang of burglars and cutthroats as he, and were determined to take desperate chanc s to secure his release. It was in-tended to poison Bailey, the "kid" who squealed on Cashman and Williams, and whom they are afraid of. How Day got the impressions of the Shelby county jail keys is somewhat of a mystery to outsiders, but Sheriff Athy probably knows something in-teresting on this subject, and will make it public in due time. The conspirators have been foiled, and but one of them arrested as vet. It is probable that several other arrest will b made ere long.
